*Harper High School
Chicago, Illinois*

Coming through the door Mr. Carlin, Principal.

Seated: at her desk Miss Hedeem, Assistant Principal.

Top Administrators

Miss Hedeem and I think of Harper as our other home, where it is our privilege to serve, where work is pleasure among the finest teachers, the best students, in the friendliest community of Chicago.

One of the most familiar doors to all Harperites is the one to 205. Inside the door Mrs. Greer and her very able secretaries handle records dealing with attendance and deportment. The efficient girls who serve on the 205 staff perform a variety of services as filing, keeping records, typing, explaining the forms to all freshmen and as messengers.

Although many students may have a legitimate record in 205, when one of the messengers enters a classroom and asks for someone he always expects the worst. Most of the time Mrs. Greer summons the student to clear a record but sometimes there are students who do get the worst.

205 is also the room where everyone must go to get re-admits or tardy slips.

Except for the few people who have perfect attendance for four years everyone at some time or another must visit 205.

Harperites may think of 205 as a torture chamber but it is really only the office where records are kept.

To 1952 Victories

Although they may never go down in the annals of high school football history as city champs, Harper will never be known as a push-over.

Some of the senior players who were outstanding in this season's games were Don Swanson and Tony Gusich, Harper's talented kicker.

The backbone of the team consisted of Aumann, Dzimidas, and Fabrizio, who played both offensive and defensive brilliantly and as a result completed many successful plays.

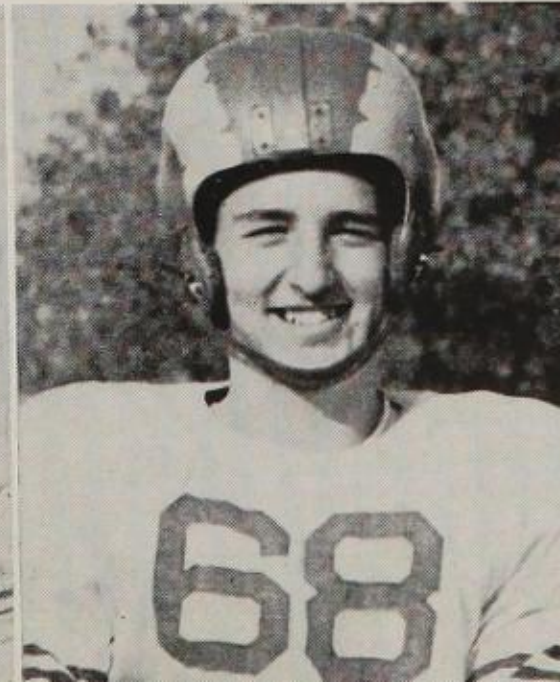

The 1952 season was one of the most successful Harper has ever had. They split the games by defeating Englewood, Farragut, and Parker, but were defeated by Du Sable, Bowen and Hyde Park.

CHEERLEADERS

"Seven rahs and a yea, cheerleaders" for Miss Hanrahan's hard working squad. With their captain Joan Malkus calling the signals the cheerleaders have lead enthusiastic Cardinal rooters into a frenzy of yelling for their team. Flashes of red skirts and white sweaters can be seen at all the football and basketball games as the cheerleaders go through their routine. These peppy morale boosters have helped give the teams that extra oomph needed for victories.

BATON TWIRLERS

Right along with the cheerleaders are the baton twirlers who perform at half time at the football games. The tossing and spinning of their shiny metal staves holds the attention of the crowds. It's intriguing the way the twirlers manipulate their batons while spectators sit tense wondering if the experts will miss. But Mil, Sally, and Carol always come through with a good show.

BASKETBALL

Although the cagers missed the playoffs, Harper ended the season with a total of six wins and five losses in league games and eight wins and five losses in practice games.

It was through the efforts of high scorers Jack Griffin and Wally Doren, that Harper was able to average 61.3 points per game for the season.

For their effort Griffin and Doren were rewarded by being selected on the All-South Section Team, with Doren being the only mid-year graduate in the city to receive this honor.

Griffin ended the season with 234 points making him third highest scorer in the city.

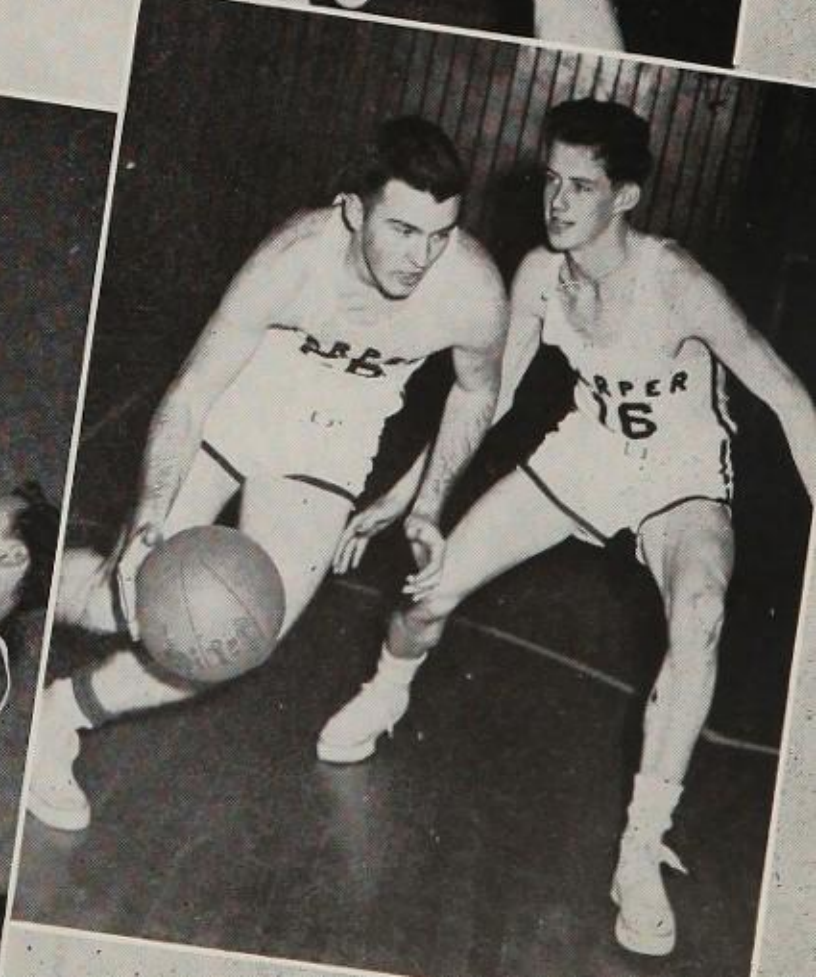

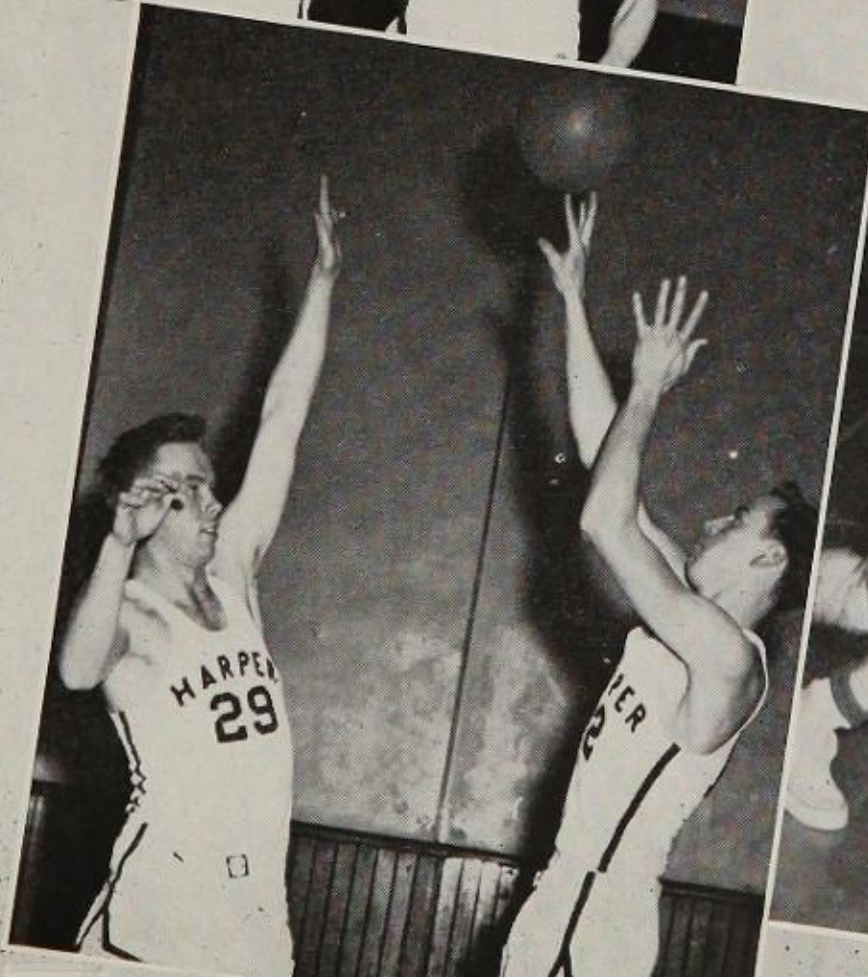

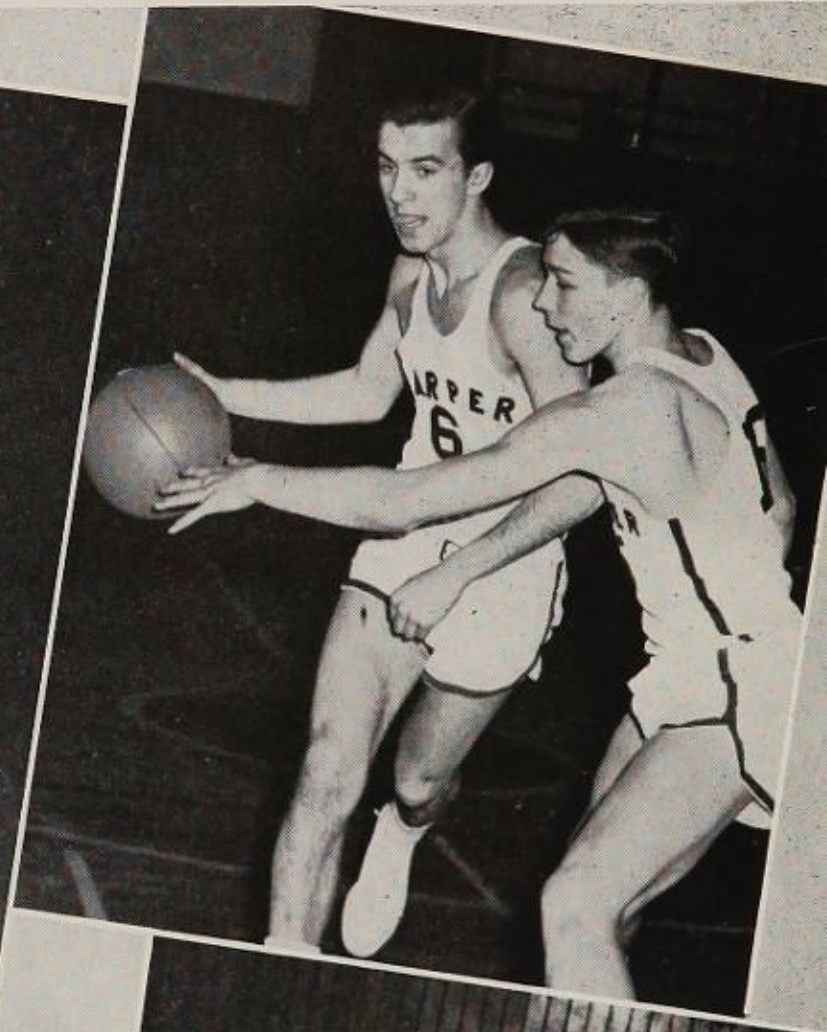

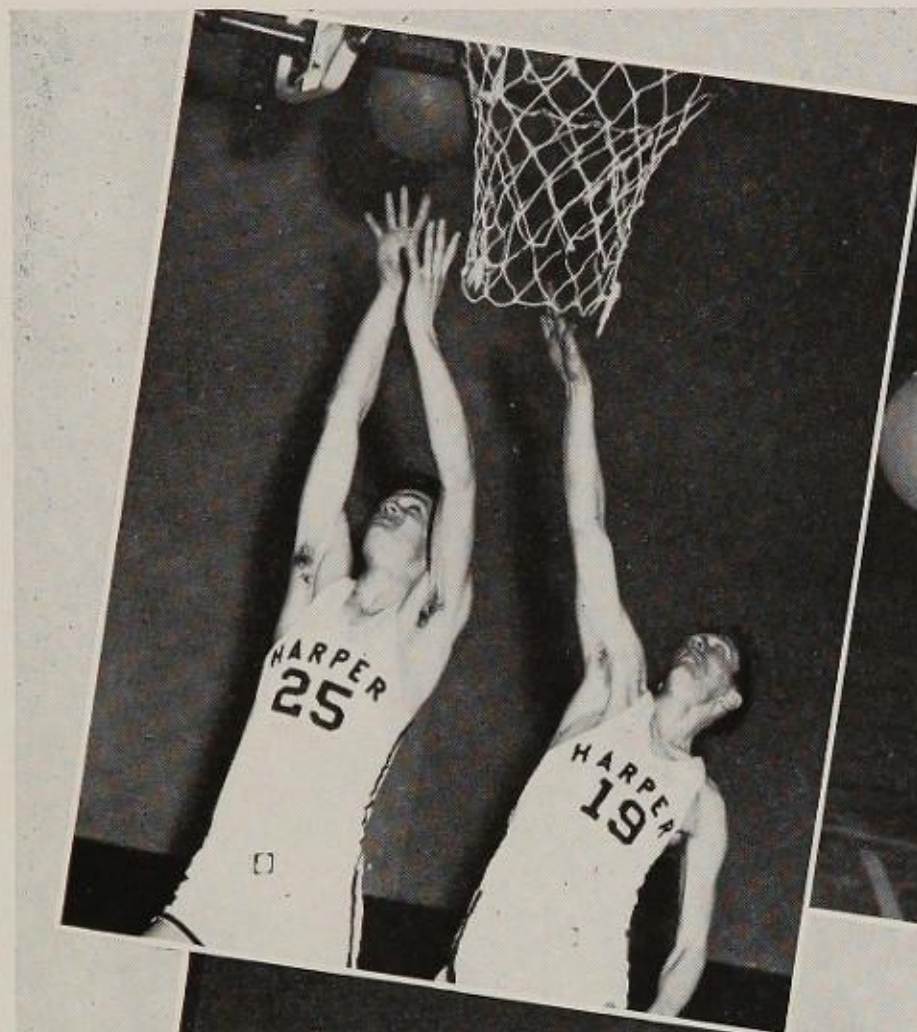

Though the team didn't make the playoffs this year, they should have a good chance next year, when the Frosh-Sophs will move up to be with remaining high scorers Nelson, Sherp, Frendon, and Mack.

BASEBALL

One of the well-known sports in which the athletes of Harper participate is baseball.

Some of the almost professional amateurs who indulge in the game with energy, form, and ability are Jake De Sousa, Lefty Manville, and Phil Nelson. These players have been with Coach Gray for three seasons and each season their playing has improved so that the team has the reputation of being one of the finest in the high school league.

THE MARQUETTE PARK GOLF AND SWIMMING TEAM

GOLF AND SWIMMING

During warm spring days, it seems as though many of the business executives are bitten by that little golf bug. But this little pest has also busied himself annoying teachers by using his charm on already weakened by spring fever, pupils. Some of Harper's now prominent and enthusiastic golfers can be found practicing at Marquette Park and playing at Jackson Park every pleasant day.

While on the subject of holes, Harper's aquatic artists may be found frequenting one of their favorite swimming holes to limber up and keep in shape for next year's team and swim meets. Although Harper has not been up with the best high school teams they are becoming a promising threat in the city meets.

The Girls' Athletic Association is run by the Board and Cabinet under the supervision of Mrs. Stanek. Its membership consists of girls who are willing to devote their spare time to bettering the G.A.A. The fall semester officers were Nancy Mattice, Carol Gottschalk, Elaine Haugh, and Arlene Miller. The spring officers remain the same except for Carol Gottschalk who is President and Shirley Smith, Vice-President.

The 500 Club, also supervised by Mrs. Stanek is the halfway mark towards getting a letter.

The Girls' Letter Club, sponsored by Miss Schmook, holds many social functions outside of school. One of the most enjoyable affairs was the initiation. Carol Gottschalk, Carol Kozak, Pat Donovan, Ruth Esch, Andrea Duval, and Barbara Crane were officers.

Racqueteers

TENNIS

Look out for that forearm swing! It's Mary Sokaschitsch, one of Mrs. Stanek's "racqueteers," sending the ball sailing over the net to score another point. Every Tuesday Marquette Park's tennis courts are invaded by the G.A.A. tennis club. When the girls are not outdoors, they practice serves, backhands, and swings in the girls' gym with the very capable help of two of the members, Jo Ann Overaa and Shirley Smith who assist Mrs. Stanek in showing the girls many of the various skills which are necessary to play a good game of tennis.

RIDING AND BOWLING

Many of the members of the G.A.A. also belong to the Riding and Bowling clubs.

These two clubs meet after school under the direction of their sponsors. The riding club meets Wednesdays at Midway Stables with Miss Schmook, and the bowling club on Friday at Queen Bowling Alley with Mrs. Stanek.

The girls enjoy these sports because they have fun engaging in them.

Captain Basketball Champs

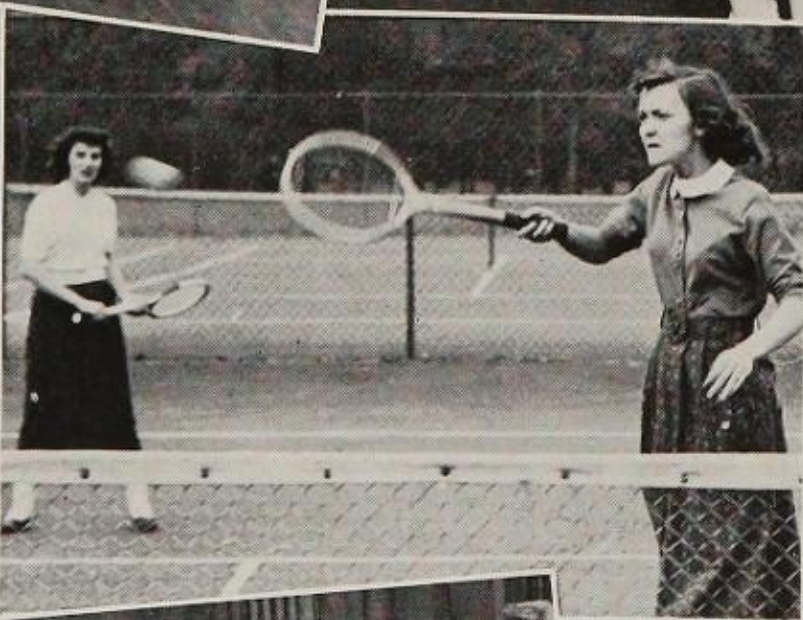

CAPTAIN BASKETBALL CHAMPS

Anyone buying a ticket for the Captain Basketball Tournament, is assured of really getting her money's worth. This is one day of the year that all G.A.A. members eagerly wait for in order to witness the battle between the Junior and Senior girls for the title. This is the sport of all sports, because a good game includes a few scratched arms, twisted ankles, bruises, as well as cheers echoing through the gym for thirty minutes.

This past January, Carol Kozak and her mighty Fifteen became the Basketball Champs of "52" defeating their opponents by approximately thirty points.

The spectators not only witnessed a terrific game but also saw one of the highest scoring games possible.

SHIELD

Another year of memories all put under one cover is edited by the energetic, hard working, Shield staff members. Remember those football games, plays, dances, teas, theater productions? To record all those wonderful memories required much writing of copy, pounding on type-writers, proof reading, clicking of cameras, and the cooperation of a business staff.

The SHIELD is the key to many memories and as the pages are turned, familiar pictures will help recall years at Harper.

Busy Pleasing the Customers

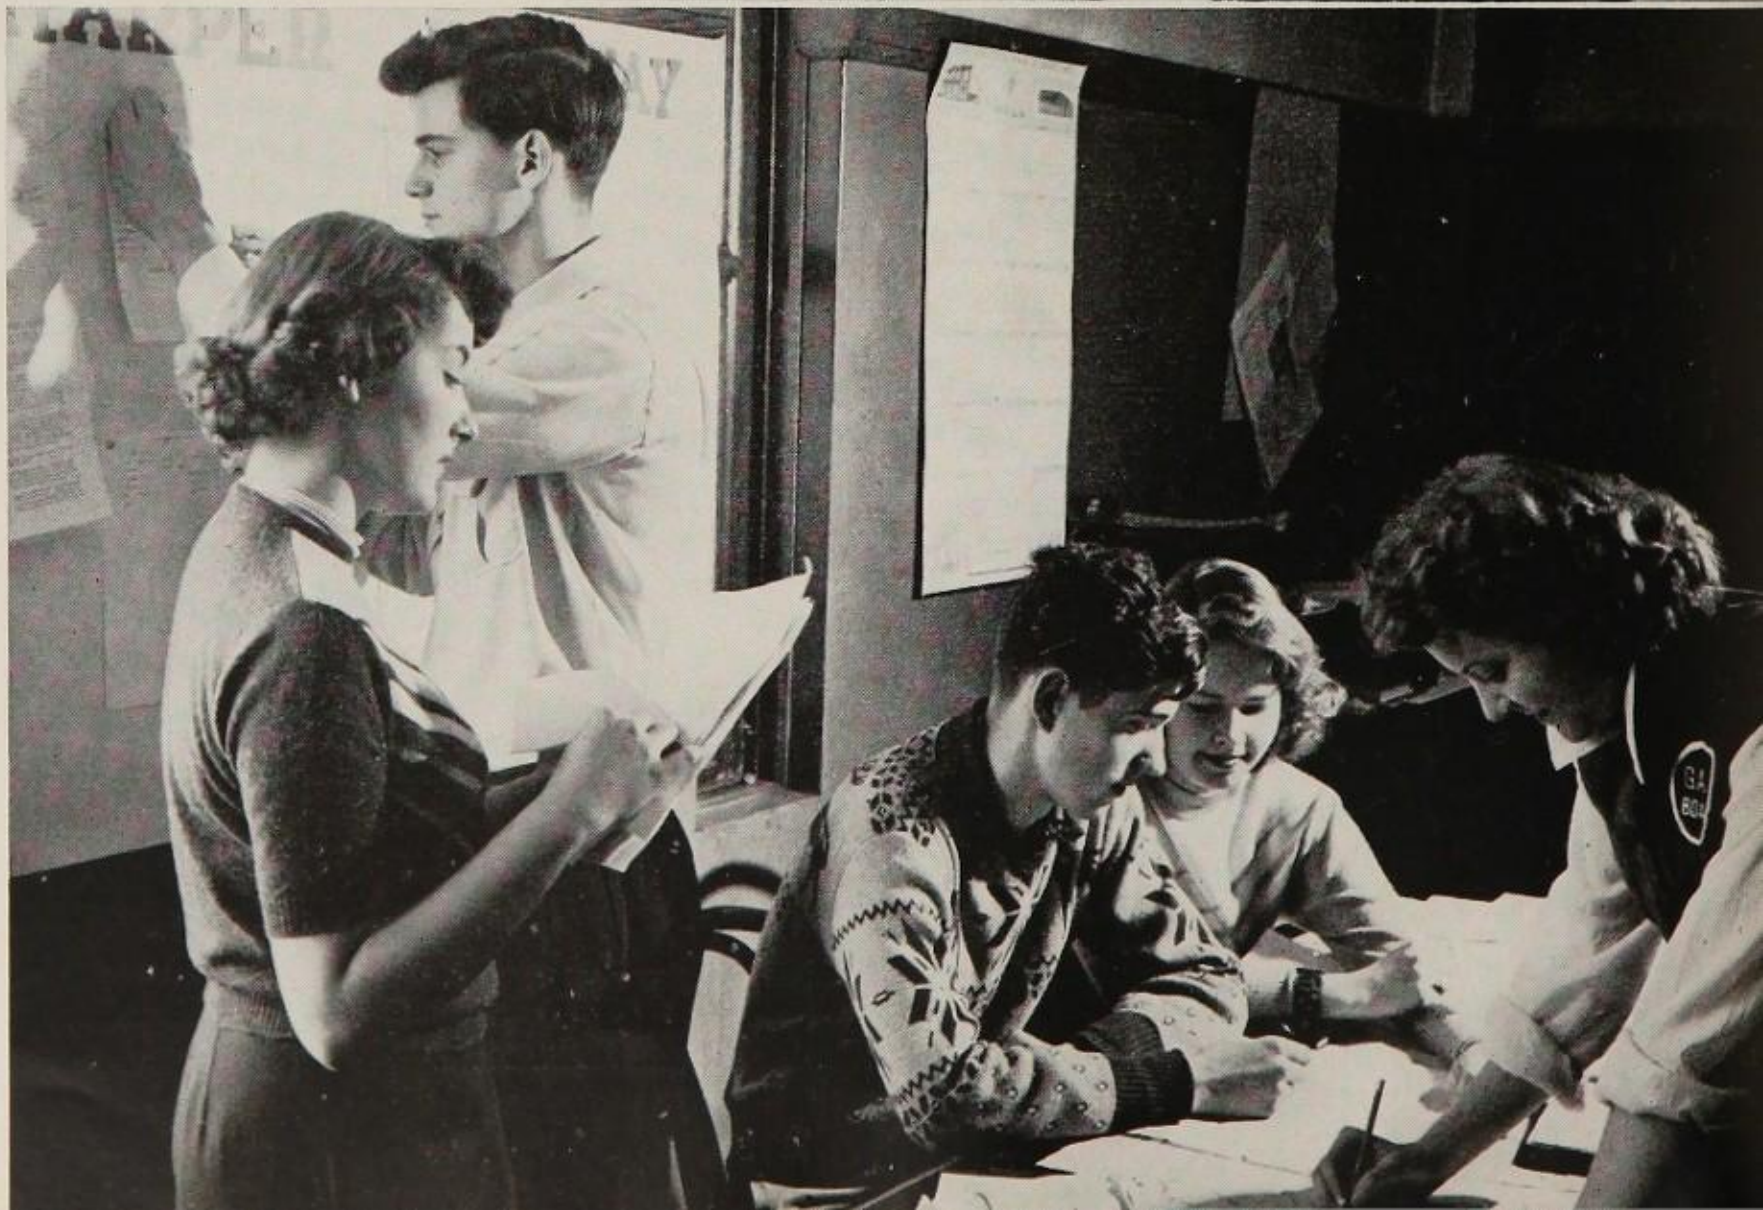

HIGHWAY

There is never a dull moment in 425, for one can see the hustle and bustle of editors, managers, and reporters all working feverishly to meet their deadline. These journalists are constantly working to better the paper for the customers. New articles such as "The Vacuum Cleaner" and "Scatter 'n Chatter" have helped them to achieve a first class rating.

Russ Huff, Editor in Chief, and Mrs. Lang, sponsor, can frequently be seen putting the last minute touches before the pages of the Highway go to press.

GERMAN CLUB

The members of the German club learn the language by taking part in various activities. For one thing they sing many German songs, as Mr. Schilke, their teacher, is also a fine musician. Discussions in the club become so heated that the students revert to English sometime in order to express their opinions more freely, although they enjoy listening to Mr. Schilke hold forth in German. During this year the high German club's officers are Edward Holzrichter, President; Kenneth Koppin, Vice President; Margaret Krause, Secretary; Harvey Brundage, Treasurer; and Jennie Wolf, Reporter.

The officers of the low German club are Robert Kovach, President; Sheila Bradley, Vice President; Joan Kopping, Secretary; Ronald Jordan, Treasurer; and Charles Tischer, Reporter.

FRENCH CLUBS

Making their premier appearance in the 1953 Shield are Mrs. Maas's French clubs, which are in session once a week. Opening their meeting with the French national anthem "La Marseillaise," they continue on with oral reports on subjects of French interest. Elected officers are presidents Bob Bailey and Ron Bowman, secretaries Barbara Crane and Helen Schulz, and treasurers Darlene Streeter and Evelyn Fox. Besides learning an interesting language the club members have fun indulging in a variety of activities such as singing, touring, writing pen pals, and playing French games.

SPANISH CLUB

Through Miss Lorette Ryan's constant efforts she has succeeded in presenting the Spanish language in a very pleasing and friendly manner. This friendly atmosphere which prevails induces a desire to participate in the class activities. She encourages the students to read her huge variety of Spanish books as extra curricular activity. This increases the students' vocabulary and familiarizes them with the peculiarities of the Spanish speaking people. Of all the book selections Miss Ryan has, the students' favorite is "El Camino Real" which is used in all her Spanish classes.

Idionia Extranjero

SPANISH CLUB

In most of the rooms in the building students know that they are in the United States, but when they walk into 314 they feel that they are in a foreign country. It could be Mexico or it could be Spain. Miss Loretta Ryan, Spanish teacher, has collected many things from Spanish speaking countries such as carved wood, shawls, baskets, leather craft, silver jewelry, and figurines. Many of the students here like Spanish because both Mexico and Spain are gay countries, full of exciting fun, old legends and superstitions, and they enjoy studying about them. In Harper's Mexico almost the same things happen—there are singing, story telling, and plays.

As The Romans Did

LATIN CLUB

As the Romans did, so do the Latin students of Harper.

The purposes of the Latin clubs are to supplement the everyday classwork. They have three presiding officers who are president, secretary, and treasurer. Some of the prominent Latin club presidents are Joan Trnka, John Kokan, and Ronald North.

Oral reports are given on club days to explain English speaking people's great debts to Greece and Rome. These reports are based upon the laws, music, and everyday living of the typical Roman family.

The Romans probably would be honored to know that the beauty of their language has been revived in the public schools, under the efficient direction of such teachers as Mrs. Maas.

LIBRARY

Many girls belong to the library staff some time during their four years. In the bright attractive library they help Mrs. Clark and her assistant Mrs. Pusey take care of and circulate the books. Some of these girls are Barbara Tramba, June Hauser, and Helen Rakowski. Although the library staff consists of all girls it is not a job consisting only of glamor but calls for efficiency as well.

BOOK ROOM

In a small stuffy room on the second floor, Mrs. Finnegan and her very dependable book-room staff prepare and circulate textbooks for the teachers. The book roomers carry out their various duties of checking, mending, and arranging the books with utmost efficiency. Mildred O'Connell, Patty Deppert and John Kenny cheerfully climb the ladders to dust the topmost shelves.

A CAPPELLA

The A Cappella Choir, consisting of one hundred voices, is looked upon by both teachers and students as one of the finest musical activities that Harper has to offer. Year after year the freshmen flock by the dozens trying to join the choir while the graduating seniors regretfully "drop out."

Under the superb direction of Mr. L. Schilke the choir has always been a great success. Mr. Schilke has been directing the A Cappella Choir for twelve years and there is no doubt as to the magnificent work that he has done. It isn't an easy job directing a group as large as this but Mr. Schilke is well respected by all choir members and their full co-operation is given.

The beautiful work of the choir itself can not be overlooked for within there is perfect teamwork which holds the entire organization together. This teamwork combined with harmony, forms a good choir which Harper un-

Harperites can be very proud of the A Cappella Choir. They make a striking picture when dressed in white robes and crimson stoles as they are for all formal appearances.

Within a choir of one hundred voices there are some outstanding voices which are singled out and used as soloists. This year's soloists have been Ray Michaels and Marsha Fine.

Accompanists are also needed by the choir and Lois Kutschke, Beverly Adams, and Darlene Streeter have helped a great deal with their talents.

Besides soloists and pianists, secretaries are needed to handle the various jobs that must be done. Six dependable girls, Mary Rita Brown, Sue Botkin, Norma Hay, Sue Senese, Marilyn Ryan, and Marsha Fine have been working quite efficiently at these many jobs.

The orchestra consists of about twenty-five players. Their chief public appearance is at Harper graduation exercises both semesters. This year they made a special extra appearance at the graduation exercises of a nursing group sponsored by the Chicago Board of Education.

They are always associated with "Pomp and Circumstance," the processional march which the orchestra plays when the graduates take the long walk down the aisle, although they are able to perform other selections efficiently.

Tommie Jo Thomas, Betty Krause, and Marjorie Swanson are the only Orchestra players graduating in June, 1953.

The members, who are under the direction of Mr. Erst, earn up to fifteen civic letter points a semester.

Music Hath Charm

GIRLS' CHORUS

Perfectionists at work! This term best describes the occupants of 406 seventh period. Working diligently to obtain utmost perfection the Girls' Chorus works for forty minutes doing warming-up exercises and practicing their songs. In this way each girl develops her own voice and learns to blend with the group.

Perfectionists at pleasure, could also describe this choral group. All eighty girls—the sopranos, altos, and mezzos—agree it is a pleasure to join in perfect harmony and make beautiful music. Many girls begin chorus in their freshman year and continue throughout their four years of high school. It helps make the monotony of the school day colorful as well as earning civic letter points.

GIRLS' CHORUS

The success of the Girls Chorus is largely due to the untiring efforts of their director Mrs. Lucile Elworth. Returning from her sabbatical leave during which she studied at the Waring School arranging and composing for choral groups, Mrs. Elworth had new ideas to improve the Chorus.

Dressed in black skirts and white blouses with black ties, the Girls' Chorus sang at many school assemblies one of which was the Brotherhood Assembly. At Christmas time, they contribute to the Yuletide spirit by caroling through the halls.

Looking very colorful in their formals the Chorus entertained with the rest of the music department in the Spring Festival. Among other songs they sang Fred Waring's "Where In the World" and "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." The Girls' Chorus has contributed much to the entertainment and enjoyment of music loving Harperites.

LEGION OF HONOR

Each semester the Legion of Honor has a tea for its members. After entertainment and refreshments, Miss Moran presents those students having all S's in their majors with a letter of commendation.

The officers of the fall semester were president, John Bereznak; vice president, Edward Holzrechter; secretary, Margaret Neely; treasurer, Don Wiberg. The spring semester officers were president, Russell Huff; vice president, Clarence Single; secretary, Doris Wickstrom; and treasurer, Marge Manning.

The Legion of Honor

LEGION OF HONOR

The Legion of Honor is not a legion for any special member of the student body, but a legion of the scholastically elite. Obtaining either E's or S's in their majors and no less than G's in their minors is certainly proof of their hard work. Being particularly intelligent is not the trick, as can be seen by talking to some of the members. It's just the use of one's intelligence to the best of his ability. Nearly two hundred members may be found in this group.

Miss Moran, who is the sponsor of this organization, each semester calls a meeting of its members to give out the traditional Legion of Honor pins. After being in this Legion for two years including the 4A semester, the pin which is otherwise returned at the end of each semester, then rightfully belongs to the student.

On the Road to Success

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

At Harper as in many of the schools in the United States, one of the most distinguished groups is the National Honor Society. This organization consists of a very select group of students ranking high in scholarship, leadership, service, and good character. In order to be elected a student must maintain at least a 2.5 average and must not have a department record. Extra-curricular activities play a large part in the final determination of candidates. Beginning in the 3A semester after taking all this into consideration a group is chosen, and another group each successive semester until graduation, when fifteen per cent of the graduates have obtained this coveted honor.

Besides receiving gold pins, they proudly wear gold tassels on their caps at graduation.

The fall semester officers were: Walter Doren, President, Judy Trnka, Vice President, and Nancy Mattice, Secretary. Spring semester officers were: Edward Holzrichter, President, Betty Krause, Vice-President, and LaVerne Howells, Secretary.

Student Council

With the mayor presiding, backed by the comptroller, city clerk, and Miss Cox, sponsor, an efficient council goes into action every Friday planning for various activities and discussing the problems of the school. The student council is really a cross section of the entire student body. The officers, who are elected by the students and are for the students, with representatives from each division, make up the council.

The city officers are pictured here but if a later picture had been taken it would have shown Joan Trnka as mayor and Don Tennant comptroller in the spring semester after the transfer of Fritz Hadra.

The Door to Entertainment

MELLIN ROOM

Any one looking into the Mellin Room sees Harper's most attractive room. Its walls of chocolate brown, large comfortable chairs and sofas and conveniently placed coffee tables help produce an atmosphere of friendliness and hospitality. Its informality makes all the students feel welcome. Under the very able direction of Mrs. Walsh the girls of the staff keep the room clean and neat and arrange all of the informal social affairs such as the Freshman tea, 4B-4A Parties, Honor Society teas, luncheons and numerous other social events. The officers are Charlotte Buckingham, president; and Shirley Easterhouse, vice president; who act as mistresses of ceremonies at the parties and make sure all arrangements are taken care of. The teachers of Harper find this a very impressive room in which to hold class discussions in which the pupils participate on social subjects.

COMPANY A AND COMPANY B

The Harper Battalion is composed of two Companies—Company A and Company B. Although there was no honor company award this year, everyone who turned out for the Battalion Formations drilled as snappily and shined their brass as though there was an award to be given. The reason for this is that the competition between the two companies is very high. The Battalion Commander was Major Bernard Olson. The company commanders were Captain Warren Wakefield, for Company A, and First Lt. William Radloff, for Company B.

COMMISSIONED OFFICERS

Commissioned officers of the Reserve Officers Training Corps include all majors, captains, first lieutenants, and second lieutenants. It is the duty of these officers to command the R.O.T.C. battalion, providing the authority necessary to develop and maintain a well-trained organization. Cadet Major Edward Holzrichter is now commanding officer of the battalion. All of the commissioned officers are veterans of at least two years of service in the R.O.T.C., having proven their leadership abilities and having risen through the ranks to their present positions.

They are responsible for a variety of duties ranging from period leaders to battalion commanders, with some assigned to special tasks such as supply officer, executive officer, and range officer.

Under the able supervision of Capt. Batt, the Rifle Team won high honors. First they took District Championship and then went on to win fourth place in the city. The team members were: David Strong, Manager, Alfred Alys, Captain, Milan Duris, Norman Gutelius, Robert Hilt, and Edward Holzrichter.

During the year they have defeated such schools as Fenger 891 to 813, Lindblom 862 to 728, Morgan Park 891 to 819, Gage Park 865 to 804, and Englewood 861 to 767.

The high scorer was Milan Duris who fired 191 in the city championship match.

FIRE MARSHALLS

Just as everyone gets settled down in his class and is all ready for work, six short bells are heard and the fire marshalls hurry to their posts. Their job is to see that everyone gets out of the building as fast as possible. They direct the students to the right exits, make sure the traffic moves freely, and hold the doors open to make it easier to get out.

Fire marshalls must be dependable and wide awake because they have a great responsibility. They are under the direct supervision of Mr. Farrington. Each semester a fire commissioner is selected. He is in charge of the other marshalls. About eighty students participate in this activity.

The fire commissioners for the last two semesters were Rich Herbold and John Gurrister.

STAGE CRAFT

Behind the scenes at all performances in the auditorium are a small group of patient but energetic fellows. It is most evident that someone is in charge of the stage but the crew is usually never recognized because they work behind the curtain.

Speaking of work, this crew is probably one of the busiest clubs at Harper. Before an assembly they are putting up scenery or setting the stage. During the production the curtains, lights and loud speaking system must be attended, and after the show all stage settings must be removed.

These boys are under the capable leadership of Mr. Lynch.

MOVIE OPERATORS

Everyone likes movies. Harperites even like educational ones as long as they get out of class to see them. Every day there are classes in 409 viewing them—from crime movies for Civics classes to sports movies for Health classes. Mr. Buehrer's helpers show films to classes almost every period every day. These boys spend their free periods showing pictures in order to get points toward a civic letter.

For this valuable service the Ushers, who are sponsored by Mr. Stanek, receive one or two civic letter points.

The checker team is also under the direction of Mr. Stanek, who can be seen playing checkers in any of his free time. This year the team won the checker championship of the city because of the skillful playing of John Polzin, Al Slapkauskas, Leo Tanke, Donald Lyngklip, and Jack Springetti.

The Art Club had as officers: Tony Patano, president; Louise Miller, secretary, and Pat Deppert, treasurer. Philip Norenberg was awarded an honorable mention in the Fire and Clean-Up contest. Winners of the Scholastic contest are Nancy James for her Christmas scene and water color; Edward Gutchewsky for his sculptured head; Jack Quillen with his monochromatic color scheme design; Beverly Johnson for her enameled locket; Arlene and Patricia Lee for fabric designs; Marilyn Tischer for school life painting.

Margo Manis was awarded honorable mention for horse sculpturing; Anthony Patano for sculpturing; Marilyn Tischer, Therese Morlces, Ray Boland, and Pat Deppert also placed.

If a student walks into room 323 on a double period class day, he may wonder what the great maze of apparatus is—it's the physics class performing an experiment with some of the most fabulous apparatus seen in a high school classroom. These may vary from a contraption showing equilibrium to a graduate cylinder showing water displacement. The students under Mr. Harris's direction learn what, how, and why things take place in their lives.

Students who passed all the rigorous acid tests and gas attacks grudgingly admitted that it was fun watching Rich Weingartner's shirt being eaten up by acid and hearing Ed Holzrichter's minor explosions.

OFFICE CLERKS

Harper, unlike most schools, has its office on the second floor. The main office is the center of activity. It is one of the busiest rooms in the school. Telephones ring, typewriter keys click, and the clerical work goes on. Students with a G average can work in the school office assisting the clerks.

Some of the jobs that these girls do are typing, filing, answering telephones, and running errands. They not only get civic letter points but they serve the school. There are three office clerks, Mrs. Vlazny, Mrs. Beaty, and Mrs. Van Gender. Some of the office girls this year are Darlene DeWees, Frances Smith, and Arlene Di Gregorio.

SHIELD SALESMAN

The life of the Shield salesman is a very happy one. At first none of the students in the division care to associate with the salesman. The students have learned all through their lives to stay away from bill collectors, so there they sit without a friend or even a subscriber until the first sign goes up which says "Shield Deadline December 12."

All of a sudden they have hundreds of people flocking to them, with dimes, quarters, and dollars to make the first deadline. From December to March the salesmen can be seen during seventh and eighth periods making their daily trips to room 404. Here they fill out little white slips and deposit their collected money with Joan Haering, Harvey Brundage, Helen Schultz, or Mary Keaveny. The efficient salesmen keep quite complicated records of their Shield subscribers. Although the subscriber may get confused as to whether he has paid fifty cents or four dollars, the salesman is very seldom mixed up.

In October the Shield Staff entertained all of the salesmen at a tea in the Mellin Room to acquaint them with the procedure. Their enthusiastic response and co-operation made the 1953 Shield possible.

After all their hard work comes the long waited day in June when they finally enter the division laden with the shining new Shields.

Bucket Brigade

"Clean up, paint up, bright up" was the slogan of the hard working clean up committee. Every year Harper has a clean up day. On this day a special committee takes charge of cleaning such things as spots of the walls in the halls, the parking lot, papers and brush from the yards, and other things. Last year Don Tennant was in charge of the committee under the supervision of Mrs. K. Ryan.

FRESHMEN SPONSORS

Many a poor bewildered freshie enters Harper on his first day scared to death—but he need not be. They will find friendly seniors ready to show them around and answer any questions which may be bothering them. There are one boy and one girl assigned to each freshman division.

Up With the Curtain

PRODUCTIONS

In addition to the successful production of "The Hidden Enemy," "A Ghost of a Show," and two talent shows were added to the triumphs of Mrs. Connery's productions class. The favorite class project was the stage exploration where students searched for the proscenium arch, oblique curtains, borders and apron.

One Enchanted Evening

DINNER DANCE

On January 23, eighty one 4A's and their dates dined and danced at the annual dinner dance held in the Sanmar Room of Ray Schalks. They feasted on such things as roast turkey, white fish, salad, and chocolate sundaes.

Walter Buchler, acting as Master of Ceremonies, took care of the program part of the evening. This consisted of very fine entertainment: speeches by Miss Hedeem and Mr. Carlin, songs by Sylvia Kocan and Ray Micheals and a novelty duet by Mary Ann Lacy and Walter Doren.

It was quite late when the sleepy but very happy Seniors said good night.

To Rich

Well, I guess I won't have to put up with anymore of your teasing in Economics or in Division either. I guess we did have some good times anyway, but graduation always has to end something. I wish you loads of luck to one of the nicest and cutest kids in our graduation class.

Always,
Darlene
Payne.
